My brother, my friend and loyal side kick, take Mom's hand and walk into heaven along her side. She has missed you and Debbie has missed you as well. It will never be the same down here without you Bebo. I love you dearly and my heart aches from the loss, however, I know in my heart your there with our relatives and I am sure the Posey boys are right there as well. Until we meet again, always know that I have always and will always love you, Love Sis.
